support policy based on the participant's salary of the previous year. The Advanced Study Center provides additional resources to support each participant's study.

Women and men who participate in this program conduct studies of their own design dealing with problems in vocational education and related fields such as employment policy, labor economics, career development and women in the work force.

Fellowships are designed to promote the professional development of the participants and support their scholarly contributions to vocational education.

Applicants will be judged according to the following criteria:

*Focus of Interest
*Leadership
*Scholarship
*Academic Achievement
*Professional Growth

The application deadline for 1981 is November 1, 1980. Applications are also being accepted for 1982.
